National Maritime Services Names Alan Swimmer Director

FORT LAUDERDALE, FL – May 17, 2010 – National Maritime Services (NMS), a leading full service ship arrest and custodial firm, has named Alan Swimmer as Director. Swimmer will work closely with company CEO G. Robert “Bob” Toney and will be responsible for planning and business development.

Swimmer, a marine finance industry veteran of over 25 years, has successfully operated several specialty finance enterprises, having managed the origination of over $4 billion in specialty loans and the acquisition of several boat loan portfolios.

“Alan is an accomplished entrepreneur with a proven track record of business development, sales and marketing, and management,” says Toney. “His expertise is invaluable as National Maritime Services seeks growth opportunities and expands services to government agencies, banks, and law firms.”

“I am honored to join National Maritime Services,” says Swimmer. “It is great to be part of the team that offers global ship arrest and custodial services unmatched by any other firm in our industry.”

National Maritime Services’ staff, licensed recovery agents and captains provide comprehensive ship arrest and custodial services around the world. NMS offers all-inclusive asset management, including marine insurance coverage, vessel location and tracking services, ship maintenance, licensed shore side and on board operations, crew repatriation and vessel marketing and sales.
